7. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Standing as silent sentinels to history are the 350-odd forts of Maharashtra. They are the last lingering memories of Maratha Empire. Surviving forts are the tangible link between contemporary society of Maharashtra & the era of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. Shivaji Maharaj established independent Maratha Empire from these forts. hence historical value of these forts is immeasurable. In extremely adverse conditions Shivaji Maharaj realised his dream of 'Swarajya' because of these forts. However, today none of these historical site & forts can be seen in its true glory. Time, human negligence and inadequate heritage protection policies have taken toll on physical form of these irreplaceable assets. As per the current legislation for heritage sites, complete restoration & reconstruction is not permissible. One can only guess the grandeur of bygone era... cannot see it...cannot experience it. Hence, to address this situation Shri Babasaheb Purandare developed the notion of 'Shivrushti' - an epic heritage park...a majestic enclave...one stop treasure house which will offer a holistic experience of inspiring Maratha history...

Shivarushti will be in the form of collage of fort architecture. One can experience all the salient features of lost fort architecture at Shivarushti. The whole program of Shivrushti is shown through the well directed documentary film. The cultural park itself will be a live fort bustling with numerous activities of that era. The first phase of this project – Sarkar Wada and library are complete & gloriously standing on site at Ambegaon, Pune. The Sarkar Wada is an interpretation for the entire project. It is well equipped with an administrative centre, research library, multipurpose hall and exhibition galleries. Contemporary society and future generations should observe experience and follow the philosophy of visionary king and valour of his soldiers is the main objective of Pratishthan for creating this mega project. The entrance of Sarakarwada has a large open space, currently used to learn horse-riding. As we enter the main gate, a panoramic construction is ready to greet. It feels as if we have actually walked into a palace. The main door of this palace is nearly 15 ft. high completed with spikes that were originally made to control rampage by elephants during a war. As we walk inside, murals and paintings decorate the passage. The courtyard has a musical fountain too. There are two large halls on either sides of the courtyard. Both have ample natural light. The 'Wada' is 2 storied high as of now with a full-fledged library, administrative office and seating places. The top floor has air conditioned rooms for special guests to give us that royal feeling.

Then we visited to the library. It had various books related to Shivaji Maharaj history. There are some rarest books. Near about 1000 books are there in the library. These books are kept in the cupboards which are specially made as per the ancient time. There is an open access to these books. The table is placed centrally, where people can read these books for their study. These books are not allowed to taken home. Anybody can study in the library.

Dr Ajit Apte guided us throughout the visit and explained every detail of the present activities carried out in the Shivrushti.

It is unique in many ways as it could be a royal retreat, a museum, a heritage site, an architectural wonder, a piece of art or a leaf out of history book - all at the same time. Currently the construction of Bhavani Mata temple is on the way of completion and construction of Darbar is in progress.

ZIBACAR organized distribution of health and hygiene kit in koliwadi, jambhulwadi grampanchayat, pune. Maintaining personal hygiene during menstruation is crucial for comfort and health. This includes changing sanitary products (such as pads, tampons, or menstrual cups) regularly, typically every 4-6 hours, to prevent leaks and reduce the risk of infection. Promoting menstrual hygiene education and awareness helps break taboos, reduce stigma, and empower individuals to manage their periods hygienically and confidently. Providing access to accurate information and resources on menstrual hygiene management is essential for promoting health and well-being during menstruation.

3. OUTCOME:

- 1) Good personal hygiene, such as regular hand washing and proper body cleansing, helps remove bacteria, viruses, and other pathogens from the body and surrounding environment.
- 2) Practicing good personal hygiene can contribute to overall physical health by preventing the spread of germs and reducing the likelihood of illness. This can lead to fewer sick days, decreased healthcare costs, and improved overall productivity and well-being.
- 3) Proper hygiene practices, such as bathing or showering regularly and using deodorants or antiperspirants, helps prevent the buildup of sweat and bacteria that cause body odor.
